

Acknowledgement of Reviewers

As editors of Children, Youth and Environments, we count on the informed judgment of our reviewers to make the highest quality research and information available online to scholars and practitioners around the world. In a double-blind review process, a minimum of two experts contribute comments about each paper published in CYE. Their advice is essential to determining whether an article is accepted for publication and invaluable to authors when undertaking revisions. We, therefore, take this opportunity to thank all those who have acted as reviewers for CYE during the last year for your time, energy and commitment to the journal! The following list reflects reviewers of papers submitted in 2017.
