The twenty-fourth volume of Focus on German Studies was made possible by the continued support of the faculty of the University of Cincinnati Department of German Studies. Department Chair, Professor Todd Herzog and Director of Graduate Studies, Professor Tanja Nusser deserve our sincere gratitude for helping in so many ways to keep Focus in operation. We also thank the many graduate students who volunteered their time to help with this volume.

We extend our thanks to all members of our Editorial Board, Board of Reviewers and Board of Graduate Student Reviewers.

We reserve the right to make any necessary editing changes without the express written permission of the authors.

| From the Editor |

Focus on German Studies remains a cooperative effort and its tradition continues with the twenty-fourth volume thanks to the collective effort of the graduate students in the German Studies Department at the University of Cincinnati. I am proud to continue the Focus tradition and would very much like to extend my sincerest thanks to all the graduate students, without whom this publication would not be possible. It is with their help that we are able to maintain a high-quality standard and a reputation of excellence.

I would like to extend special thanks to all previous journal editors for their contributions to our publication, especially those who most recently completed the transition to the online platform, Open Journal Systems. Our publication and its entire publication history are available online and this allows readers to access our volumes quickly and easily. I would like to thank especially Mark Konecny and Sophie Zhang for their help with the editorial work involved in this volume. Without their help, our journal would not be ready to move into a smoother production process in the future. I would also like to thank the Book Reviews Editor of this volume, Ellen C. Chew, for her support during this process and her extraordinary attention to detail. A heartfelt thank you is extended to all of our copy editors and reviewers. Further thanks is due to Todd Herzog, the chair of the German Studies Department, for his guidance and insight as this publication came together. I wish our future editors, Ellen C. Chew, Mareike Lange, and Anna Senuysal every success as they continue our strong tradition of publishing.
