Abortion

Anuafuo, Lambert

Abstract — in this presentation, I will demonstrate the way I think abortion should be answered through interviews, images and discussions from a variety of people who have opinions on abortion.

I. INTRODUCTION

The problem of abortion cannot be solved by just one so called solution. Some women believe that it is their body and that they should be allowed to do whatever. Others believe even though it is their bodies, there is a whole new other body growing in them and it is not fair to end their lives without their permission.

II. FINDINGS

Abortion is top 10 most controversial topics in America and rightly so. How abortion should be handled varies from person to person, religion to religion and country to country. Abortion kills more than road accidents in the world. My research method is mainly through interviews. I interview a variety of females I know from a variety of backgrounds, age, ethnicity and religion. From these, I also add some research review articles to better enhance the understanding of my piece. I discover that abortion should not be solved by one major proposal like say making it legal or illegal, but rather should be solved by putting a time limit to when a fetus can be aborted say after 3 months or so.
